Grand Leader Promotes Employee

Thomas Brown, who has been head starter over the elevator service at Grand Leader ever since his removal to the present location, has been promoted to a more responsible position. Mr. Brown has been given a private office and placed in charge of the complaint department for colored people. This is not a discrimination, but a department created simply to give individual attention to the best patronage Grand Leader is enjoying from the colored people. Mr. Brown will also have the power of salesman and will act as a guide and assistant to prospective buyers. Mr. Brown is intelligent, courteous and ambitious. He is the first Negro to receive a responsible position in any department store in St. Louis. He has won this position by honesty and thrift, and paves the way to a new field of employment for our young men.

Grand Leader has also placed a thoroughly modern and sanitary restaurant, for colored people, in charge of Harry Elazer, and a maid, Miss Minnie Deffenbacher, in the apparel department to care for colored patrons.

NEW HOME PHYLLIS WHEATLEY BRANCH Y. W. C. A., Garrison and Lucas Aves., Needs $1,500 to Complete.

A WORD WITH REGARD TO THE WHEATLEY BRANCH Y. W. C. A., ST. LOUIS, MO.

I wish to say that in traveling over the country I have taken particular interest in the colored branches of the Young Women's Christian Association, and where it has been possible to make of them homes while in cities where they have been located. A great deal of good work is being done by all of them but without the least shadow of a doubt, the St. Louis branch is doing far more to fill the real purpose for which the Christian Association is supposed to exist than any other branch in the United States. I have been in the building now four weeks, Sept. 1, to Sept. 30, 1916, and have given no little attention to conditions. The girls of the building seem to have been much more thoroughly by the refining and cultural influence of the Association spirit, and the home-like atmosphere has gripped them until it really has made the place home indeed.

The new quarters being prepared will be the best and most thoroughly equipped of any in the United States for colored girls. The citizens of St. Louis could do no better thing than to give it their whole-hearted, enthusiastic support.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

BY E. O. REILLER, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course, the Bible Institute, Chicago.

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 10

ELIJAH TAKEN UP INTO HEAVEN.

LESSON TEXT—II Kings 13:1-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—In thy presence is fullness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures forever more.—Ps. 16:11.

This chapter is in type the Christian's chapter. There are two chief divisions: (1) Translation vv. 1-12;
(2) reception and use of power vv. 13-14.
The event occurred probably 825 B. C. This is a wonderful lesson for youth as it emphasizes that the way to heaven is the way to the best of life.

I. Elijah's Testing, vv. 1-12. Since Carnel, Elijah had largely been working according to the "still small voice."
He had revived the schools of Samuel, but now in some way notice was sent from God that the time of his departure was at hand. How Elisha learned this fact the record does not suggest, but he had had a great object lesson. Elijah's faithful obedience to Jehovah's word and doubtless was listening keenly for Elijah's words and for the voice of Jehovah. This explains Elijah's tenacity. Gilgal (v. 1) means "wheat"; —our reproach rolled away, and is a picture of our salvation (I Peter 5:7; Ps. 55:22). Elijah had already learned the lesson of being supplanted by a younger man and so he gracefully allows Elijah to follow him. "Bethel," the house of God, was a good place to carry but not for Elijah at this time.
Now (v. 3) fifty "sons"—pupils of the prophet seek to dissuade Elijah.
Glowing, earnest words were about to happen, they "stood to view after off," but were not willing to draw nigh, to follow like Elijah. They thereby failed to read a rich reward (John 12:26). Jericho (v. 4) means "the grace." It is the place of triumph (I Cor. 10:13). This was 14 miles farther and contained a settlement of prophets. Again Elijah and Elisha passed on, the one to glory, the other to the fullness of the Holy Spirit. At Jericho (v. 6) the "sons of the prophet" evidenced greater interest than those at Bethel, but in reply to their challenge Elijah commanded silence. The last difficulty to confront them was Jordan (death), but they do not hesitate, for God had provided even for that contingency.
Neither are we to hesitate but willingly "die unto self." Here the aged prophet exercised his supernatural power and they "went over on dry ground" (v. 8). Though this journey seems to have been revealed only stage by stage, yet it was direct to the final goal, and at each stage, though they saw not the end, they knew where to go next. This loyalty of Elisha to Elijah is a great lesson for us to follow in our service of Christ—our privilege of loyalty to his cause and the blessing which will result thereby. No great victory or bleeding ever comes without much travail and testing.

II. Elijah's Translation, vv. 9-12.
Even as in the first section we see in type the plan of salvation so in this section we are taught the resultant facts and the experience which come to us when the blessing is received.
Elijah is now encouraged to "ask," yet we have a like promise from a greater than Elijah which we too often neglect (John 14:13, 15-17). Elijah was such a mighty man of prayer (James 5:17, 18) that he was on intimate terms with God and could therefore make such an offer to Elisha (see Acts 8:15, 17). Notice that the "fifty sons of the prophet" who "stood afar off" were not on the right side of the river to receive a like promise or enter into the same fellowship. In a sense this was Elisha's final test.
Again Elisha may not have known the plan of God that a man so unlike himself was to take the place of leadership. Elijah said, however, "If thou see me when I am taken from thee," if God gives you spiritual vision to use and to understand, then he will accept you as his successor. There must be persistence to the end and spiritual vision. "As they still went on" Elijah went up, not in a chariot but attended by chariots and by a "whirlwind into heaven." (See also Ezek. 1:4; II Kings 6:17). Elijah, the man of tempestuous fire and sword, who in his hour of weakness prayed to die, is swept out of sight amid a display of God's power in and through nature.

Note the simplicity of the record—one voice—at though such power were a simple and a common thing for Jehovah. The translation of Jesus was quite different and properly so (Acts 1:9; Luke 24:51).
Elisha's eyes were open and he saw his departing chief, therefore he became his successor according to the promise.
As a visible proof of his new appointment, Elisha let his walking stick melt, as he ascended, and Elisha took it and is recognized as Elisha's successor.
What is heaven? Read the last chapter of Revelation.
Do we live after death? Elijah and Moses on the Mount of Transfiguration, and the resurrected Christ prove that death is but the transference to another field of activity.

Instruction for the Sinner

By REV. R. B. SUTCLIFFE
Assistant Minister of the Holy Bible Institute of Chicago

TEXT—We have trespassed against our God. . . yet now there is hope concerning this thing. Now therefore let us make a covenant with our God.—Isa.
54:1, 2.

This text is full of instruction for the sinner who would find peace for the conscience. It tells of the proper confession, the gracious comfort and the wise conduct for every sinner.

I. The proper confession for every sinner—"We have trespassed
against our God."
The Bible professes the fact that "all we like stray have gone astray, we have turned every one to his own way,"
and "all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." Our history and our conscience bear witness to the truth of it. The present writer and reader must make the same humiliating confession: "I have trespassed against my God."

The evil thing is already done and the record is already made. The temptation to think that we can do enough good to blot out the evil is a subtle one. We cannot go back over the road and live it over in such a manner as to hide the record we have left. We sometimes say, "I wish I could go back and do it differently," but time refuses to turn back for us.
The record is there and all we can say of it is, in the words of Pontius Pilate, "What I have written I have written." The words spoken that should have remained unuttered may be forgotten but they are all recorded. The deeds of evil we cannot undo.
The sins are already committed and the sinner should not be so much excited about what will happen in the future as about what has happened in the past.

There may be a difference in the number and kind of sins committed, but trespass there is against each one. To trespass means to get "over the fence" or "out of bounds." God sets bounds for man to walk in and as far as the fatal results are concerned one might as well be a mile out of those bounds as merely a foot. God says that "he that keep-eth the whole law and yet offendeth in one point is guilty of all." If a man's life depended on the strength of a chain, nine strong links would avert the catastrophe resulting from a weak link that breaks. One sin is enough to put one "out of bounds." Therefore this is a proper confession for everyone to make, "I have trespassed against my God."

II. The gracious comfort for the sinner—"yet now, there is hope concerning this thing."

In spite of the trespass whether large or small, every sinner has this hope. God says to all, "Come now and let us reason together: Though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow." The natural thing for a sinner to do is to hide from God.
One who has been offended. This Adam did when God came into Eden after the fall. But not in judgment, but in grace does God come. Not to condemn but to save. In the future he will come to judge and to condemn, but today there is hope for all. "The mercies of God are over all his works."
"Now is the accepted time, behold today is the day of salvation." Many say, "I will think about the matter," but the Lord "today" at once, now, not tomorrow. Many have gone to a hopeless eternity just because they persisted in thinking about instead of accepting God's gracious offer of a present salvation. And this text proclaims a universal hope, including all who have trespassed. It is extended to every one who has sinned. The Word declares that "Whoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." "Whoever will come and take of the water of life." "Whoever believeth on him shall not perish but have everlasting life."
III. The wise conduct for the sinner. "Therefore let us make a covenant with our God."

This is not merely a covenant to turn over a new leaf or to mend our ways or any of the many expedients resorted to to give peace and rest to the troubled conscience, but it is turning to God, coming out from behind trees to him who alone can blot out the record of the trespasses and give us a clean record. The words of the prophet are as true today as they were when uttered, "Let the wicked forsake his way and the unrighteous man his thoughts and let him return unto the Lord and he will have mercy upon him and to our God for he will abundantly pardon." There is abundant pardon with the Lord for every trespass and for every sin and the blood of Jesus Christ, God's Son, can blot out every mark and stain from the sinner's record.

Propriety is founded on the principle that all riches are from God.

SOME COOKERY HINTS

IDEAS THAT MAY BE OF VALUE TO THE HOUSEWIFE.

Now, the Ideal Custard Should Be Made—Mayonnaise With Just the Right Flavor—Best Way to Serve Cucumbers.

The best custards ever made have not been baked on the oven floor. The tried-and-true method to make the delicious custard is one quart of fresh milk, scalded in a double boiler. No more nor less than four eggs beaten and stirred into one cup of granulated sugar. Always lemon extract with a pinch of nutmeg for the delicate custard. It kills the egg flavor. Now, here is your secret, place it in a pan of boiling water in the oven, cover your custard, and bake it for one hour in a warm but not too hot oven. Insert a silver knife in the middle of the custard. If it comes out clean, the custard is done, otherwise the ingredients stick to the knife.

Of all the professional secrets hardest to obtain for the delicious mayonnaise this is the hardest. That is, mistakeable "tang," the tasty snap, though hidden with other condiments was found to be nothing else but cucumber. The cucumber is done, otherwise the ingredients stick to the knife. The cucumber is grated for the purpose. Then, think of it, the vinegar used, ordinary vinegar? Yes, but prepared with brown sugar, boiled with spices and cucumber into a white foam with one-half its bulk of olive oil. For potato salad this mayonnaise, mixed with the cucumber and hard-boiled eggs, is really one of the finest flavored salad dressings known to the chef who desires to make known their professional secrets.

Have you seen the cucumber sliced, but in half and decorated with slices of the red radish? Very pretty. Score the rounded sides of the cucumber into one-eighth inch sections, but do not cut through the cucumber. Place one flat or cut side of the cucumber on the dish, slice the red radishes, leaving on the red rim. Insert these slices of radishes between the slices of cucumber, alternating the red and white; garnish with parsley, small pickles, small socks of beet, and serve with salad dressing.

A delicious luncheon dish is known as "Devils on Horseback." Plump carmelins are used. Each has a little blanket of bacon pinned around his "tummy" and all is then fried in deep fat and served on buttered toast.

Don't Lose the Pie Juice.

To keep the juice in the pie, instead of using the cloth strip, which spoils the edge of the pie anyway, have the bottom crust larger than the pan. Cut the apple into sections. Before putting them in, cover the bottom of the pastry with half the sugar. One cupful of sugar to a good-sized pie will not be too much if the apples are sour.

Lay sections of apples all around the edge. Then fill in the middle. Add the rest of the sugar. Roll out the top crust, lay it on and lay on. Wet the edge all around and turn up over the top crust the surplus of the under crust. Press down with the fingers, and seal all around with a fork. Make a hole in the top of the pie and wet all over with cold water. The oven should be fairly hot for the first 15 or 20 minutes. Then the heat may be reduced so that the apples may cook thoroughly. It will take about 40 minutes to bake a good-sized pie.

Marshmallow Pudding.

Take two dozen marshmallow drops—stale or fresh—and put them in the bottom of a baking dish. Four or five eggs, beaten, fill a mold except for a thickening of cornstarch; put the dish on the stove and bake for half an hour. Then take it out, add a meringue and brown this. Serve cold. The cooking melts the marshmallows, which give the coons pudding a most delectable taste.

Indian Huckleberry Pudding.

Boil one quart of milk, remove from the stove and stir into it a small cupful of lard. Now add two well-beaten eggs, two tablespoonfuls of finely-chopped suet, one tablespoonful of molasses, a pinch of salt and one cupful of cornstarch. Fill a mold two-thirds full and steam three hours. I use a five-pound lead pall. Use any sauce you care to make—Exchange.

Brown Betty.

Put a layer of white bread crumbs in a baking dish and then a layer of sliced cooking apples, and so on until the dish is almost full. Sprinkle each layer of apples with sugar and a little spice, if the taste is liked, and also mix small bits of butter through the layers, being sure to have some of the seasoning on top of the dish. Bake a light brown.

Butterfly Fruit Cake.

Two eggs, one cupful brown sugar, one cupful sour cream, two tablespoonfuls of molasses, one cupful cupful butter, one cupful chopped raisins, one cupful chopped butters, one-half pound citron, cut very fine, 1/4 cupful of nutmeg, 1/2 cupful soda, one teaspoonful each cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg.

Mashed Potatoes With Onions.

To fry or fry five cupfuls mashed potato add one cupful boiled onions mixed to a pulp, one tablespoonful butter, one teaspoonful salt, some cream and pepper. Boil lightly together and before serving brown the top for a moment in the oven.

WOMAN AGAINST WOMAN AT B. W. NEXT WEEK

A musical comedy-drama with the scene laid in Mexico will be presented by the Russell-Owens Company, at the Booker Washington Theater next week. The story of the play is most interesting.

Madge, an American girl, from El Paso, Texas, goes to Mexico and becomes the rival of Spanola Rose, a Spanish senorita for her lover's hand. After a romantic combat the rivals come to a sword combat and the Spanish girl is killed. The scene depicts a cantecero or a Mexican inn and is replete with sprightly dances and jingling music, splendid scenery and costumes.

The first part will be an original musical farce-comedy, presented by the entire company, entitled "What Billy Owens Saw Through the Fence at Kentucky Park," written by Bob Russell and Billy Owens. The entire show next week, bids fair to be the best of this company's three productions.

THEATRES

RUSSELL-OWENS COMPANY PRESENT ANOTHER GOOD SHOW

"The Dope Friend's Dream," at the Booker Washington Theater. This week a realistic comedy. Drama of Life in a Chinese Opium Den

The show at the Booker Washington Theater this week is well up to the reputation established by the Russell-Owens Company last week. The bill is in two parts. The first is an olio of vaudeville numbers opening with a drill by six members of the company. This is followed by some eccentric dancing by Tommie Parker that almost stops the show. Parker, as "Dr. Killenwick," goes on to his office and there the fun begins. The cause is an operation performed by the doctor and his assistant (Owens) on Russell, the patient. The tactics used keep the audience in a spasm of laughter as the operators extract first the head of cabbage, then a loaf of bread and finally a live fowl.

The next number is almost as ludicrous. It opens with the Freeman in a song and dance. After he agrees to take her to a ball, he goes home to dress, but decides to loan his full-dress suit to his bosom friend, Russell. Finding that Russell has turned father by stealing his girl, he disrobes Russell on the street, and sends him on without hat, coat or shoes.

The Langster Brothers close the first part with one vocal and two saxophone duets and score a hit. "The Dope Friend's Dream" occupies the second part. There is in three scenes and opens in a Chinese opium den, where five bunks to accommodate the inmates can be seen. After a chorus of five Chinese girls singing "Chinatown," the real plot begins. Miss Nina Mitchell plays the title role. As the dope fiend she becomes detected by the Chinese maid (Miss Mack) and her father (Owens) come to New York. The girl falls into the hands of the Chinese Den Keeper (Russell) and is lured into the place. Here she is about to fall a victim of Bates when Miss Mitchell intercedes and swears to protect the girl with her life. This precipitates a fight and the end of the girl attract her father, who arrives just in time and makes good use of his revolver. The horror of the dream causes the dope fiend to wake up, this brings all the inmates who awake her and she tells the story.

Freeman, Owens and Parker furnish the comedy and the act is full of some tawdry song and dance. The three lady members have been added to the company.

Vena Martin-Downing, the St. Louis actress, was called home from Chicago last week on account of the death of her father. She returned Wednesday to rejoin her husband in "The Rajahs" act.

THE LOCKED DOOR AT THE MOVIE THEATRE

"The Locked Door," a thrilling picture in three parts, the supervision of the New York City fire department, will be shown at the Movie Theatre, Sunday, Tomer night. The story of the girl at a Western drama, and Charlie Chaplin are other features for Sunday.

BASEBALL

ED. BROCK LINES UP ALL-STAR TO BEAT GIANTS SUNDAY

Can a white team be gotten together in St. Louis that will be better than the famous Giants? That's the rub that has agitated baseball promoters all summer. Ed. Brock, manager of the Alphen Bros., thinks he has solved the problem. He has lined up "Lafayette" Leffell, pitcher of St. Paul; Johnny Tobin, of the St. Louis Federals; Jule Egan, of the Texas League; Outfielder Ray O'Brien, of the Three-L League and others. Leffell will start the game and Alberts, who held the Giants to 3 runs September 26, will be held in reserve. The game will be played tomorrow (Sunday, October 10), at Brock's Park, 3600 South Broadway, at 3 p. m. Go early as there is no doubt about the park being filled to capacity.

The Giants easily beat the Wabados at Christian Brothers Campus, last Sunday, 10 to 3. Some sensational playing by Brock and McAdoo kept more than 5,000 spectators interested until the last man was out. The Giants ran the bases like wild geese and stole several and squeezed at will. Hewitt made a sensational catch while lying on his back on top of a bunch of spectators in right field.

"String Bean" Williams, the St. Louis Giants' star pitcher, has won 22 out of 26 games. "Beans" is a much sought for star artist, by club owners, for 1916, but says he is already signed up, and there is no use bothering him. It's a safe guess he will be with St. Louis, if we have a team.

SUMNER HIGH NOTES

The Boys' Debating Club had a very interesting program last Thursday evening, of impromptu addresses, declamations and orations. The club meets every Thursday evening.

J. Lyle Costant will represent the club on W. M. C. A. program October 12.

The Sumner football team is rounding out. Another great year is in progress. Coach Greene is elated over his prospects. The preliminary points are being mastered. Although several of the candidates have been eliminated, more than enough remain for two machines. Wednesday's practice showed that the boys are tackling well. Yarger, a recruit, has made good at center; Hutchinson and Lawson are having a battle royal for left halfback. Greene is showing old time form and Davenport bids fair to fill Thompson's shoes at end. The old players who are lost to the team are Bailey, Harris, Thompson, Peterson, Staten and Guaran.

"Sumner boys are brave and bold, Sumner girls are true as gold."

POOD SEED MEANS FAILURE

WE MUST STUDY THE STALK

Don't Select Your Seed Corn From the Crib—You Can't Tell What You Are Getting.

When You Gather Seed Corn, Study the Root System, Foliage, Stalk, Husk and Tassel, and the Distribution of Light on Stalk With Short Shank.

By P. G. HOLDEN, Agricultural Extension Department, International Harvester Company of N. J.

The character of the stalk should be taken into consideration in selecting the seed.

There are almost as many things to be considered in connection with stalks as have been discussed with regard to the ear; though it will be impossible to give to the subject the space it deserves.

There are the root system; the character of the stalk, and the distribution of light and chaff; the disposition to sucker and to set several ears; the length of the shank, the time of pollen shed; the disposition to rot; susceptibility to disease such as rust, smut and mold; tendency to break over at the roots, below the ear and above the ear; premature ripening; the ear light and chaff; the disposition of the ear on the stalk, high, medium or low; erect or drooping; the grain and the comparative maturity of the different stalks and ears, etc.

The great majority of corn raisers select their seed things into consideration. They select the best ear, the usual good ear throughout the husking season or pick them from the crib at planting time.

We must know the stalk upon which the ear grew, whether the stalk was the only one in the hill or one of three stalks.

There is just one practical way to do it, and that is to go to the field in the fall, before the nights are cold enough to injure the vitality of the corn, and select the best ears, provided they come from strong, healthy, desirable stalks. We simply must use this method of selecting our seed corn.

Strong Stalks.

The stalk from which an ear is selected should be strong, vigorous and healthy. The ability to stand in the competition and to overcome unfavorable conditions. We should discriminate against spindly stalks, especially those that are small from the ground to ground maturity and mold.

Height of Ear.

Select ears from as nearly the same height and position on the stalk as possible. The higher growing corn will tend to make the corn later each year.

If we go to the other extreme we will soon get an early, small, slim, flaty and with shallow roots and open furrows between the rows and the yield will be reduced.

Drooping or Erect Ears.

An erect drooping ear uses slightly as the husk begins to turn yellow and open is preferable to one that stands erect, allowing the water to run down under the husk and stand at the base of the ear, which of course is undesirable. The drooping ears are generally a little earlier than the erect ones.

Short Shank Desirable.

The ear should be set on a short shank close to the stalk. Ears on long shanks are usually to be broken off and are a nuisance to handle, especially if the corn is out and shocked.

Freedom From Disease.

The stalks should be free from disease such as smut, rust, mildew, etc. I have seen cases where nearly every stalk coming from a certain ear was affected, and so badly affected that there was not a good ear on any of the 500 stalks.

Foliage, Its Character and Distribution.

A thin, sparse foliage is never desirable. It carries with it nothing but weakness. In the corn belt where the ear is the most valuable part of the plant, the ability to be broken off and is a nuisance to handle, especially if the corn is out and shocked.

Two Ears to the Stalk Not Desirable.

Except possibly in the case of flat varieties and the early northern dent varieties, which are grown as a fodder, it will be advisable to select seed from one-ear stalks.

Covering of the Ear With Husks.

A heavy mass of husks on an ear or the projection of the husks beyond the tip of the ear into a tight point are objectionable; they prevent the corn from drying and make it more difficult to husk. The husks should just fairly cover the tip of the ear and should be broken off or open at tip of shelling, to allow circulation of air in order to dry out the corn.

NOTE.—Those calling for pastimes, curious and freakish persons are very wasting time calling on Prof. Gladstone. Strangely fascinating are the words that come from the cultivated lips of this most interesting man whose journey of life has been a long one, and who has seen all the renowned psychic schools of Egypt, India and Europe. It seems, indeed, as if his knowledge must come from the mysterious world of which we all would know. He separates the human body from the astral plane, and the astral plane from the etheric plane, and the etheric plane from the spiritual plane, and the spiritual plane from the divine plane, and the
